

The Plaza
Living Landmarks Celebration
November 2, 2022

Thank You

We have honored New Yorkers who have made extraordinary contributions to the City we love for nearly three decades, recognizing them as Living Landmarks.

About Us

The New York Landmarks Conservancy is dedicated to preserving and protecting the iconic buildings and diverse neighborhoods that are the heart and soul of this City.

The Landmarks Conservancy is the only private organization that provides both financial and technical support in this effort. Since it was founded in 1973, it has loaned or granted more than $60 million to help people save their homes and communities, including cultural, religious, and social institutions.

These grants and loans have in turn mobilized some $900 million in nearly 2,000 renovation projects throughout New York providing much-needed economic stimulus and supporting local jobs. No other organization is engaged in such a hands-on way in sustaining the City's architectural heritage. Our work generates employment, promotes tourism, and enhances the quality of life for all New Yorkers.

Faith Ringgold

Faith Ringgold, born 1930 in Harlem, is a painter, mixed media sculptor, performance artist, writer, teacher, and lecturer. She received her B.S. and M.A. degrees in visual art from the City College of New York, and Professor Emeritus of Art at the University of California in San Diego.

She created her first political paintings, The American People Series from 1963 to 1967 and had her first and second one-person exhibitions at the Spectrum Gallery in New York. In the early 1970's Ringgold began making tankas, soft sculptures and masks. She later utilized this medium in her masked performances of the 1970's and 80's.

Though Faith's art was initially inspired by African art in the 1960's, it wasn't until the late 1970's that she traveled to Nigeria and Ghana to see the rich tradition of masks that have continued to be her greatest influence.

She made her first quilt, Echoes of Harlem, in 1980, in collaboration with her mother, Madame Willi Posey. Ringgold's first story quilt Who's Afraid of Aunt Jemima? was written in 1983 as a way of publishing her unedited words.

Faith's first book, Tar Beach, was published in 1991. It has won over 20 awards including the Caldecott Honor and the Coretta Scott King Award for the best-illustrated children's book of 1991.

Her second children's book Aunt Harriet's Underground Railroad in the Sky was published in 1992. Her autobiography and first book for an adult audience We Flew Over the Bridge: The Memoirs of Faith Ringgold was released 1995 as well as the children's book My Dream of Martin Luther King. Faith's most recent books are Harlem Renaissance Party and We Came to America.

Oscar is Co-Chairman of the New York Philharmonic, a member of the Board of Lincoln Center of the Performing Arts, and is part of the team that led the historic renovation of David Geffen Hall. Oscar is a longtime trustee and benefactor of The Metropolitan Museum of Art. He has led The Met's Asian Art Visiting Committee and helped build the department with gifts of masterpieces; curatorial, conservation and exhibition support; as well as gifts to renovate and expand galleries and study spaces.

Oscar has also supported other institutions including Skidmore College, the Asia Society, the Gordon Parks Foundation, and the USA Bobsled/Skeleton Foundation. He co-founded the Committee of 100 with Yo-Yo Ma, I.M. Pei, and others to advance United States/China relations and Chinese American inclusion. Oscar was appointed to the President's Committee on the Arts and Humanities and the New York State Council on the Arts. He was elected a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

A graduate of Phillips Academy Andover, Oscar served on the Board of Trustees and as President. Under his leadership Andover became the first American boarding school to go "need blind." Oscar attended Yale University and Harvard Business School, and has founded centers of academic excellence at Andover, Princeton, Columbia, Berkeley and Oxford. Most recently, Oscar and his wife designated the Tang Academy for American Democracy at the New-York Historical Society, providing foundational civics and history education to thousands of public school students throughout the five boroughs at no cost.
